

Who We Are:

We at CECC believe that it is our role, in partnership with the family, to value and develop each individual child socially, emotionally, physically, cognitively, culturally, and spiritually. In our warm and loving atmosphere, children feel secure and are empowered to accomplish new skills; actively participate in their educational experience; and build a foundation to be lifelong learners.

CECC uses Creative Curriculum, a guide rooted in research-based educational theory and practice. It provides a framework for children's interactions with materials, peers, and adults. The teacher's role is to plan and facilitate developmentally appropriate educational activities, to modify the room to best fit the children's developmental needs, and to observe, document, and extend the learning and growth of each child.
